Where To Start?

There comes a time in everyone’s life when they need to make a decision; what to keep, sell or give away. They are moving into a smaller home for one reason or another. The question comes up “where do I start?” A number of people start by tagging or listing things to go to their children. What do you do if the kids do not want grandma’s bone china or her antique writing desk?

To maximize their return on investment, most people will try selling things that may have some value. Kijiji and Facebook Marketplace are very popular places to sell privately. Some will do garage sales. Some people don’t want strangers coming to their home and would prefer to have someone else do the selling for them.

At Missing Pieces we hear this tale daily, so we have taken the time to compile a list of services in Winnipeg that help with downsizing as well as some services that may buy or consign your treasures. What you can’t sell, you can donate.

There are numerous places which accept very specific things. We have tried to offer a website or a phone number for each company and in some cases, an example of what they might buy or accept. We recommend you contact each establishment before toting your possessions in.

We at Missing Pieces can only BUY or CONSIGN so much dinnerware and crystal. We offer people the opportunity to Register to Sell on our website. If we need it in the future, we can contact you to see if you still have it. Meanwhile, you are welcome to continue to try selling it privately.
